WILL JUDGE 14 FARM PASTURES IN PA. CONTEST

Fourteen Adams County farms which have been entered in the state Green Pastures Contest will be judged next week by a staff of three judges and the winner will be entered in the district contest, it was announced today by Martin Walter, chairman of the county committee for the Production and Marketing Administration.

Three vocational agriculture teachers from high schools in the county will do the judging. They are Cecil R. Snyder from Biglerville; Paul Benchoff of Fairfield and Carroll Slothour from Fairfield.

They will start Monday and it is expected that about three days will be required to complete their task.

August 22 has been set as the date for the annual tour of the winning pastures. Arrangements for the tour will be completed after the results of the judging are made known.

There will be prizes for the winners in the county contest and Mr. Walter said that every farm who has entered the contest will be offered a purchase order for eight tons of lime. Varying quantities and types of fertilizers and lime are the prizes in the pasture contest.

AG EDITOR OF TIMES ANSWERS MANY QUERIES

"Red Ants in the Kitchen" has a lilt to it somewhat reminiscent of that old song "Red Sails in the Sunset," but it's no song to many Adams County residents who are bothered by the pests.

Large numbers of them have written to Dan P. Van Gorder, The Gettysburg Times agricultural editor, Box 1528, Washington 13, D. C., asking him to tell them how to get ride of the ants.

There are not just one of two ways, according to the replies, but 12, because, according to Van Gorder, "ants are extremely wily," and often it is necessary to try more than one remedy.

A number of other county residents have appealed to Van Gorder to know what to do to keep the blackbirds from eating their garden peas.

A typical letter says: "During the past few years I have been bothered with blackbirds robbing my truck patch of freshly manured peas by tearing the pods open and eating the peas. I have used crude scarecrows and this year I trained the vines upright on wires, believing that maybe the birds would not disturb the pods if they were somewhat off the ground. They still took a goodly number of the peas."

Other Queries

According to Mr. Van Gorder, "the blackbird and pea problem is exceptionally tough in many sections and particularly throughout southern Pennsylvania. There is no sure cure solution."

He says some gardeners have had success with brightly-colored balloons. He suggests that the bright-colored tapes used sometimes at gasoline service stations might help scare the birds and keep them away from the peas.

These are two of the many problems about which Adams County readers of The Gettysburg Times write Mr. Van Gorder. Some want information on getting rid of worms in red raspberry bushes; others want to know what makes tulips turn yellow. A large number of readers want to know how to get rid of corn borers, others, roaches.

Mr. Van Gorder will answer all questions sent to him by readers of The Gettysburg Times if a three-cent stamp is enclosed.

Mystery Veils Reported Escape Of American From Red Prison

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — An international mystery today shrouded the fate of John Hvasta, a naturalized American citizen who reportedly escaped from Communist Czechoslovakia's grim Leopoldov Prison Jan. 2.

The United States government is trying through both diplomatic and intelligence sources to find out what has happened to the Hillside, N. J., man whose escape was announced yesterday, over seven months after it was supposed to have occured.

But at the moment officials have no idea whether he is dead or alive and still in hiding either behind the Iron Curtain or outside the Communist bloc.

Hvasta's father and brother said in Hillside last night they felt confident he was safe, wherever he was, but his mother took a grimmer view.

"If my son had escaped from jail in New York, would it take him seven months to cross the Hudson River?" Mrs. Michael Hvasta asked, pointing out that Vienna and safety in the American zone were that close to him across the Danube.

She expressed fear the escape was "some trick of the Reds."

American officials are hopeful that Hvasta's reported dash for freedom will not upset the long negotiations for the release of Associated Press Correspondent William Oatis, held by the Communists in Czechoslovakia on an espionage conviction for the past year.

Hvasta had been sentenced to three years — later raised to 10 years — on espionage charges in May, 1949. The United States had denounced the charges against both Hvasta and Oatis as false.

An article by Emily Post in a recent issue of The American Weekly is worth reprinting for its reference to "Amusement Park" manners. The same rules, however, could apply to a great variety of public gatherings, from firemen's carnivals to church picnics.

"The amusement park invites you, one and all, to be gay and carefree," says Emily Post. "But contrary to the belief of too many people, it doesn't invite you to think that you have come upon a place where manners and consideration for others no longer count.

"You do have an obligation not to jostle others, not to litter the boardwalk or beach with trash (and she might have added roadside, picnic grounds, (etc.); not to be so boisterous as to interfere with someone else's outing.

"Sometimes a little patience will be your best evidence of good manners. Wait your turn in ticket lines instead of pushing ahead of others. Take your fair place in the queue at refreshment stands. Don't think you have to be the first to jump into a seat on the roller coaster or to grab a miniature automobile in one of the 'bump 'em' places.

"When you are at a refreshment stand, don't let the general air of abandon affect you so much that you grow over-playful and smear the clothing of someone near you with mustard, spilled beverage or frozen custard. . . .

"Girls and men alike owe a special courtesy toward harried mothers with young children and all other visitors who may want to stroll instead of take things, as youth does, on the run."

Will Not Deport Man Who Paid 90c Red Dues In '34

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. McGranery says he sees no reason for deporting Karl A. Latva of Wendell, N. H., the man who said he paid 90 cents in Communist dues 18 years ago.

"I will certainly not break up this family and send this man away, if the facts are as they are presently reported," McGranery told a news conference yesterday.

He said he will have the FBI investigate the case of the Finnish textile worker who has been ordered deported under th 1950 McCarran Internal Security Act.

Latva, a 49-year-old loomfixer, testified during naturalization proceedings that he once joined the Communist party in 1934 and made a 90-cent contribution. He said he spoke no English at the time and thought he was getting into a labor-aiding organization.

McGranery said the Boston federal judge who denied Latva's petition to prevent deportation "ruled the only way he could under the McCarran Act."

But as chief law-enforcement officer, McGranery said he has "latitude in deciding whether prosecutions should or should not be pressed."

Latva's two sons, Carl and Paul — both World War II veterans — called McGranery's announcement "good news" and "wonderful."

"The family is greatly indebted to the press for their interest in the case," Paul said at his brother's home in Guild, N. H.

And Carl said:

"I hope my father soon will be cleared."

CORONER'S JURY BLAMES TRUCK DRIVER IN DEATH OF MRS. WEAVER

David S. Jones, 32, a truck driver of 129 S. Federal St., Chambersburg, was blamed Friday evening by a Franklin County coroner's jury for the death of Mrs. Rae Weaver, 49, of Biglerville R. 1, in a two-car collision the night of July 6, at the intersection of the Lincoln Highway and the Buchanan Valley Rd., 12 miles west of here.

"From the evidence we find that Jones was responsible for the collision resulting in Mrs. Weaver's death," the coroner's jury said.

Use Of Alcohol Cited

"We feel that he had ample time and opportunity to avoid the collision and that his use of alcohol was a contributing factor."

Jones and a companion, Mrs. Pauline Brown, 27, of Chambersburg R. 4, testified that they had each consumed four bottles of beer at an Emmitsburg taproom before starting for Chambersburg.

Jones denied he felt the effects of the beer and Mrs. Brown said she was asleep at the time of the crash.

Five of Mrs. Weaver's nine children were with her in the car driven by her son, Thomas B. Weaver, 20.

They and two other occupants were enroute home from a drive-in movie. Weaver testified he stopped in the center lane of a three-lane highway to wait for Jones to pass before turning into the Buchanan Valley Rd.

Says Foot Slipped

Jones told the jury he was blinded by the headlights of an approaching car and that his foot slipped onto the accelerator pedal when he tried to brake the car.

State Policeman James A. Treas testified that Jones had clear vision of 950 feet of the highway as he approached the intersection.

Jones has already paid fines totaling $28 on charges of driving too fast for conditions, and not yielding half of the highway to oncoming traffic.

The accident occurred in Adams County, but the case was tried in Franklin County because Mrs. Weaver was pronounced dead at the Chambersburg Hospital.

The section of the Hanover-Carlisle highway, Route 94 of the state highway system, from the Hanover borough line to the Adams County line will undergo resurfacing treatment next week, it was announced Friday by Paul E. Markle, district construction superintendent.

The work, to be done by employes of the State Highway Department, will be started Monday morning, weather permitting. One lane will be blocked by barricades while the work is in progress, with one-way traffic control in effect. When the side of the road surface is finished, work will start on the other side until the project is completed, probably by the end of next week.

Mr. Markle also stated that construction work on Route 94 south of Hanover, the Hanover-Baltimore Highway, from just beyond Pleasant Hill to the Maryland line, which was suspended last fall, will be resumed after the completion of the Route 94 project north of Hanover.

OLD FRIEND OF STEVENSON IS DEM. LEADER

By DON WHITEHEAD

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Adlai Stevenson held tight control of his presidential campaign today after the appointment of his old friend Stephen A. Mitchell of Chicago to head the Democratic National Committee.

Mitchell was given the committee chairmanship in an obvious move by Stevenson — the Democratic presidential nominee — to put his own lieutenants in key spots for the big drive to win the November election.

The appointment was something of a political surprise. And it shoved Mitchell — a virtual unknown on the national scene — into the top Democratic ranks. He moved over the heads of old line party leaders whose names had been mentioned as possible successors to the present chairman, Frank E. McKinney of Indianapolis.

Expect Ratification

Stevenson's choice was approved by the Executive Committee of the Democratic National Committee. It is expected to be ratified shortly by the full committee.

Mitchell has been chief counsel for the House judiciary subcommittee investigating the Justice Department. He was due here this afternoon for the first of a series of conferences with Stevenson on campaign strategy.

Mitchell told reporters in Chicago last night that the appointment came as a surprise and he exclaimed, "now I'm in the soup."

The 49-year-old attorney will see Stevenson today and then will meet with Stevenson and McKinney tomorrow for a further discussion of campaign plans.

Showers Help Corn Prospects

With more than three-quarters of the normal August supply of rain falling here in the first eight days, farmers are saying the skies are "raining roasting ears and bushels of field corn."

Friday's rain that totaled 1.19 inches brought to 3.25 inches the total so far this month at Gettysburg. Normal for August is 4.01 inches.

The showers have brought moderate temperatures here. Friday's high was only 72 degrees, making it one of the coolest August days on record here.

More showers moved toward the South Saturday and government weather forecasters looked for a complete breakup of the drought in that area.

Recent rains have eased drought conditions in New England and the Southeast, but Arkansas, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee still are critically dry with damage to crops and pastures mounting.

Third Party Is Formed In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—A group of about 100 persons dissatisfied with the Democratic and Republican parties voted last night to form a third party.

The group, which claimed to represent nearly 40 states, was led by Mrs. Suzanne Stevenson of Connecticut, head of the Minute Women of the United States.

The plan was adopted at a rump session after the main group, assembled to explore possible formation of such a party, voted to give the idea further consideration.

The meeting originally was called under sponsorship of the Operation America of Washington, D. C., and the Minute Women of Maryland. This group voted not to take any immediate action after several speakers contended that a third party formed at this late date would have no chance of electing its candidates this year.

However, the faction led by Mrs. Stevenson protested. After the meeting was adjourned they went ahead with plans to form a third party at once.

Hoodlums Resume Capital Operations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Numbers writers and narcotics peddlers who went underground during the Senate Crime Committee's investigations have resumed operations in the nation's capital, says District Commissioner F. Joseph Donohue.

Donohue said in a radio interview last night that co-operation of the metropolitan police and investigating senators had "virtually halted" several types of vice here for a while.

But he said a recent increase in arrests of gambling and narcotics agents indicates "these criminals have started operation again."

HENDERSON, Nev. (AP) — Jim Thorpe, 64, the old-time football great and Olympic games star, today was undergoing treatment for a heart ailment in Rose de Lima Hospital.

Thorpe operates a small bar known as the Jim Thorpe Resort near Henderson.

He was voted the greatest male athlete in The Associated Press mid-century poll.

The officers couldn't wait. They took the hinges off the door. Then she gave up, dressed and went to court with them. Bolinger fined her $10 and costs and sentenced her to 10 days in jail.

LEGION FACES SEVERE BATTLE FOR COMMANDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pennsylvania's American Legionnaires put aside fun and play today for serious business as they girded themselves for a hot convention battle to elect a new state department commander.

While thousands of Legionnaires, their families and their friends enjoyed several drum and bugle corps contests and the "Night of Stars" entertainment last night in mammoth Convention Hall, many delegates to the 34th annual state convention were lining up votes for the important election that tops today's closing agenda. An afternoon mid-city parade ends the four-day meeting.

Martin Speaks

U. S. Sen. Edward Martin (R—Pa), former governor of Pennsylvania and once commanding general of the state's 28th division, told the closing session in a prepared speech that Legionnaires "are the shock troops, trained and prepared for action, in the campaign to preserve the United States as a free nation of free men."

After reviewing the rich history of Philadelphia where American liberty was proclaimed, Martin urged that every veteran, regardless of political affiliation, vote in November for a president of the U. S.

"I ask you to go out among your friends, your neighbors, your business associates, the men in your shop or factory," Martin said. "Remind them that they are the government of the United States and it is their duty to take part in the decisions that are so vital to the future of America and the world."

Thru Way Battle

It's a three-man battle for commander with Legion insiders predicting that Herbert M. Walker of Langhorne, Bucks County, has the best chance to succeed Jack H. Dodson of Greensburg.

But Robert Herrmof, Quarryville, Lancaster County, and Col. Joseph Moss, Philadelphia, weren't conceding. And after what happened yesterday few people are making positive predictions.

Before a day-long downpour caused major changes in the convention program, a group of insurgents took the convention by storm and captured two top Legion posts.

William Windsor of Harrisburg, one of the rebels so-called, defeated incumbent Harry K. Stinger, Philadelphia, for the post of national executive committeeman by a vote of 1,355 to 1,032.

The other important post — national executive committeeman alternate—was won by Edward G. Petrillo, Erie, over Si Bittner, Latrobe. The vote was 1,571 to 938.

Held Job 10 Years

Windsor was the candidate of the group led by William Roan, secretary of the state House of Representatives. He had been alternate committeeman.

Stinger, who held the job 10 years, was backed by the organization now headed by past national Legion Commander Paul Griffin of Uniontown. It was the first time in the state legion's 34-year history that the organization lost an important election battle.

Before these election skirmishes had gotten underway—and while drum and bugle corps' competition was being held elsewhere in National Guard armories—delegates cheered and whistled as U. S. Sen. James H. Duff (R—Pa) demanded that American Communists convicted of treason be hanged.

Pounding the rostrum as he spoke without a text Duff shouted:

"This is the time when we have to decide that we are going to save America, and if we are, we cannot be soft with the people who are attempting to destroy us."

The delegates also took a little time to approve a number of resolutions. One called for outlawing the Communist Party, while others urged Universal Military Training in the U. S., more military support in Korea by the United Nations, and a State Department order that would prevent Americans from sending money to Communist-controlled countries.

Auxiliary Elects

And while this business was underway, the Legion's auxiliary completed its annual meeting by electing Mrs. A. P. Sundry, Blairsville, president. Mrs. H. Wallace Jordan, Chester, was elected state chaplain; Mrs. Harry Hassinger, Northumberland, state historian, and Mrs. Ray S. Wilson, Overbrook, was re-named secretary-treasurer.

Philadelphia's Reilly Post won first place last night in the class A drum and bugle corps competition with a 94.2 score, barely beating out the York "White Roses" which has 93.5. Imhof Post, Philadelphia, was third with the Homewood Post, Pittsburgh, fourth.

Hershey captured top honors in the class B competition followed by Milton, Tyrone and Hanover.

McCall Post of Philadelphia was first in the junior drum and bugle contest. Upper Darby was second with Bristol third.

Rhawnhurst - Castor Memorial Post, Philadelphia, defeated Barnesboro in the afternoon color guard competition. No other posts showed up because of the rain.

Officials of the 40 and 8, the Legion's funmaking society, announced that the Bellefonte Post junior band had won first place in the society's Thursday night parade. New Castle was second. A special award as the most unique musical unit went to the Claysburg band from Blair County.

In today's big parade Bellefonte post will defend a 10-year-old title.

Says Drought Won't Jump Food Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Brannan says he does not believe the widespread drought will cause either a food shortage or a material rise in food prices.

Brannan said in a radio (CBS) interview last night losses caused by the drought in the Southeast and New England would be offset by farm production in other areas.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

the day when motor vehicles are in great abundance less than one-half of the fatalities occur, but that after sundown, when three-quarters of the automobiles are safely in garages, more than half and, in some states, more than 60 percent of the traffic fatalities occur.

From the completed 1951 traffic reports of 20 states, Edmond C. Powers, director of Public Information of the Bureau, reports the following findings:

Of the 10,110 traffic fatalities is these states, 5,388, or more than 53 percent occurred between dusk and dawn. In the state of Maryland, as an example of high percentages, more than 65 percent of all traffic deaths occurred between dusk and dawn.

During these hours between dusk and dawn, only one-fourth the total traffic was flowing. Putting it on a "per car" basis (1 car at night to 5 plus accidents and 3 cars at day to 5 minus accidents), the car by night becomes almost five times deadlier than it is by day.

Largely to blame for this seeming split-personality, states Powers, is the fact that when the natural light of day is gone only 15 percent of our existing street lighting is adequate to compensate while thousands of miles of streets and highways have no light at all.

• • •

Summarizing he says: "The automobile is a pleasant vehicle by day, becoming dangerous mostly through misuse. The driver by day has good visibility and is, therefore, the complete driver of his car. On the well-lighted street at night records show that he retains this absolute control. In both cases his car is much freer from the chance of a fatal accident.

"But at night on the poorly-lighted street he becomes a partial driver, a good part of his course being left to chance because of shadow-engulfed hazards.

"If this element of chance were done away with through good street lighting, and records of before and after lighting bear this out, more than one-half of night traffic deaths would be eliminated with a savings, in the nation, of more than 10,000 lives."

PAFKO'S HOMER RESTORES LEAD FOR BROOKLYN

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Handy Andy Pafko finally is paying Brooklyn some juicy dividends on the big deal of last season.

Hitting an even .300 with 15 home runs and 55 runs batted in, the 31-year-old outfielder is refuting those who said he was "all washed up" when Chicago put him on the block.

Pafko seems to be overcoming a habit that disturbed manager Chuck Dressen's peace of mind. His first 10 homers came with nobody on base. In fact, his first 14 drove in only 15 runs, including himself 14 times. Then came last night's three-run blast off Curt Simmons in the 10th inning for a 6-5 victory over the Phillies.

Important For Dodgers

It was an important blow for the Dodgers, enabling them to stretch their lead to 6½ games, just as it was before the Giant series. New York was shut out by Boston's Max Surkont, 2-0, and St. Louis lost to Cincinnati, 8-5.

Pafko was the big man for the Brooks, driving home five runs with his homer, double and a long fly ball. The extra-inning blast gave the win to Preacher Roe who took over in the eighth after Ray Moore turned in 6 1-3 innings of brilliant relief work for Chris Van Cuyk.

Surkont landed a stunning blow on the Giants who hoped to make up ground at Boston. The veteran righthander held the second-place club to four hits, stopping al Dark's 22-game hitting streak. Ben Thorpe and Jack Dittmer drove in the two runs off Max Lanier.

Cubs Shut Out

Ewell Blackwell needed relief help to save his third win of the season after Cincinnati chased Cliff Chambers in a five-run fourth inning.

Murry Dickson took matters into his own hands for the downtrodden Pittsburgh Pirates. He shut out the Chicago Cubs for 10 innings with six hits and then broke up the game with a 10th inning single for a 1-0 verdict.

Rookie Bill Glynn's homer in the 12th enabled Cleveland to tighten up the American League race a bit with a 10-9 win over the St. Louis Browns. As a result, the Indians now trail the idle New York Yankees by only 2½ games.

Chisox Win Pair

The Brownies fell on Bobby Feller and Lou Brissie to open up an 8-0 lead in the first two innings but the Indians came back and finally tied the score in the ninth on Larry Doby's three-run homer. Glynn's second major league homer gave Early Wynn his 14th victory and Dave Madison his second loss.

Rain washed out the Boston Red Sox-Yankee and the Philadelphia-Washington night games in the American.

Chicago came from behind twice to sweep a twi-night doubleheader from Detroit, 4-3 and 2-1, behind Billy Pierce and Joe Dobson.

YANKEES READY TO CLINCH RACE

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel, a wise old man, usually gives out with a wink when asked if he's going to win his fourth straight pennant.

But the New York Yankee skipper predicted today his team not only will take the flag, but "we're going to win it now—and against the Red Sox."

"It's time we quit fooling around," said the one-time left-handed dentist. "I made nine mistakes on our last road trip, and my players made nine more.

"We're going to win it now, and everyone's going to take part. There are a couple of players not putting out. They'll change in a hurry, or they'll be gone in a week's time."

U. S. Davis Cuppers Seek Third Triumph

Flam and Seixas are scheduled to meet Brendan Macken and Lorne Main in the doubles match.

What a difference a pitch makes.

Southpaw Ron Mrozinski of the Schenectady Blue Jays tried to slip a low inside pitch past left fielder Ross Sullivan of the Williamsport Tigers last night in the first game of an Eastern League doubleheader and:

1. Sullivan lined it over the right-field wall, scoring shortstop George Bullard, who had walked ahead of him.

2. Although that fourth-inning homer was the only hit given up by Mrozinski, the Tigers won, 2-1.

Schenectady went on to win the second game, 4-1, but failed to gain on the Albany Senators, who split with the Scranton Miners, 1-6 and 4-3. The Senators lead the league by 3½ games.

At Elmira, the Binghamton Triplets cannonaded four Pioneer hurlers for 12 hits and a 9-3 decision. Hartford and Reading were rained out.

LAYNE IS VICTOR OVER CHARLES BY DECISION

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—Husky, young Rex Layne bulled his way over ex-heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles last night in a 10-round decision which threw the Charles camp into an uproar.

Jack Dempsey, the former world's heavyweight champ who was the referee and sole judge, held Layne's hand up in the victory sign as thundershowers deluged Ogden Stadium.

Immediately afterware, Charles' co-manager, Jake Mintz, rushed into the ring, berated Dempsey that "this is the lousiest decision I've ever seen."

Later, Dempsey told a reporter that "I called them just like I saw them. I'm sorry that Mintz or anyone else didn't like the decision. I'm sorry."

Layne weighed 195 and Charles 190 for the outdoor fight which Promoter Ken Mayne said drew more than 23,000 fans. Mayne estimated the gate would top $150,000. Each fighter will receive 35 per cent.

Interstate

By The Associated Press

A new manager met defeat in his first game at the helm and a tinued a batting rampage as the Class B Interstate League headed into a liverly weekend.

Woody Wheaton's debut as manager of the Harrisburg Senators was spoiled by the pitching of Harry Wilson, York left-hander who hurled his team to a 4-3 triumph over the Senators.

Wheaton replaced Buck Etchison as manager of the Senators after the latter was let go for financial reasons.

Meanwhile another Buck—Riddle, of the league-leading Hagerstown Braves — helped his team sweep a three-game series over Sunbury by a 9-2 win last night.

Riddle banged out a triple, a double and drove in five runs, scoring two himself.

Allentown at Wilmington and Lancaster at Salisbury were rained out last night.

11 Teams From 4 States Play Today

YORK, Pa., (AP)—Eleven teams from four states opened play today in their postponed third annual Mason-Dixon Invitational Midget Baseball Tourney.

All games were set back a day due to rain both in the afternoon and evening here yesterday.

Officials decided to make the tourney a single instead of a double elimination event. The boys range in age from 8 to 12.

Allentown drew a bye in the first round, which includes these pairings:

Defending champion Manheim, Pa., Chix vs. Covington, Va.; Wrightsville, Pa., vs. Lehighton, Pa.; Gettysburg, Pa., vs. Shelmire Club, Philadelphia; Johnstown, Pa., vs. St. Mary's Magdalene, New York City; York, Pa., All Stars vs. Greenbelt, Md.

UNASSISTED DOUBLE BY HURLER

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A pitcher seldom makes an unassisted double play in the major leagues. Murry Dickson, Pirate twirler, did it against the Chicago Cubs last night.

With a Chicago runner on first base and one out in the fifth inning Bob Rush, Cub batter, tried to bunt. He popped the ball up. Dickson caught it, then ran over and doubled the runner off first.

JIM FERRIER TOPS GOLFERS FOR BIG PRIZE

CHICAGO (AP)—Midway leader Jim Ferrier's gifted putter today was a magic wand that beckoned golf's richest prize, the $25,000 top money in the whirling "world championship" fairways carnival.

Ferrier, massive ex-Australian who became a U. S. citizen in 1944, took a two-stroke lead over 1947 National Open Champion Lew Worsham into the third round of Tam O'Shanter's $90,000, four-ringed circus.

Ferrier has scorching rounds of 68-66 for a 36-hole total of 134, 10 under par. Big Jim's putter tapped only 27 times in yesterday's 31-35 effort.

In the $12,000 "world" women's pro event, Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., still had a bead on the $5,000 first prize with a 36-hole total of 145, four strokes ahead of Patty Berg, the gallant shooter from Minneapolis.

The "world" amateur was resolved into a hot scrap between Bill Campbell, 29-year-old former state legislator from Huntington, W. Va., and defending Champion Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio. Campbell's 136, fashioned on a pair of four-under-par 68's, gave him a two-stroke lead over Stranahan.

The National Geographic Society claims Napoleon once told his brother Joseph: "If we are forced to flee to America, I should choose a place between Philadelphia and New York and on the Delaware River, in order to get news by packet."

A Defense Department announcement said the call includes 196 doctors and 110 dentists for the Army and 175 doctors and 90 dentists for the Air Force.

Counting the October call, 1,893 doctors and 850 dentists have been inducted or ordered to active duty since last July.

GAME PROTEST STARTS DRIVE

By The Associated Press

The Hamilton Cardinals, capitalizing on a successful protest of an umpire's decision, have made their big move toward first place in the Pony League, and were just a half game behind league-leading Jamestown today.

The Cardinals started in the seventh inning of a disputed Bradford game of June 17 last night and went on to the 13th to reverse the previous score and win, 4-3, at Hamilton. Pitcher Bob Umfleet, in a pinchhitter's role, squeezed in the tie-breaker.

Win Second Game

The Hamilton won the regular second game, 6-2.

At Jamestown, Batavia third baseman Dave Brennan hit a bases-loaded triple to spark a six-run seventh inning rally that beat the league-leaders, 6-3.

Hornell shortstop Bob Coluni singled in the ninth inning at Hornell to drive in the winning run and beat Wellsville, 3-2.

Tom McDonald, Olean centerfielder and the league's leading home run hitter, blasted his 18th with two aboard in the fourth at Olean to help beat Corning, 8-6.

You always want a second look

How many times a day do you take a second look at something? If you have a chance—you do it every time something new comes along.

When your team wins, by skill or weird luck, it isn't enough to see it pictured—to hear it told—just once. You take a second look . . . in your newspaper. It's the only sports medium that gives you a chance to gloat and mastermind to your heart's content.

Whenever a politician, or a labor leader, or an act of God changes the traffic light for your business, you take a second look . . . at your newspaper. It's the only news medium that gives you a chance for quick complete re-evaluation.

When you want a house, or refrigerator, or television set, you look in your newspaper . . . at A's ad, then B's and C's, then back to A's. You take a second look. And your newspaper is the only advertising medium that gives you a chance to shop and compare, and see what's for sale here and now.

Everybody wants a chance for a second look—on the things that interest him most. That's why practically everybody reads the newspaper—every day.

Just as you read the paper now, your customers and prospects read the paper too—at the time they choose, for as long as they choose—for the advertising as well as for news or for fun.

• When your selling is backed by newspaper advertising, your story has a chance to reach almost everybody. Not just comedy fans, or mystery fans, or sports fans . . . but everybody.

That's why advertisers today invest far more of their money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising.

Only the newspaper is first with the most news . . . first with the most people . . . first with the most advertisers!

BIRD LIFE

Nothing is more fascinating and enjoyable than the study of bird life. I have no idea why they were created in so many varieties. I love that glorious family of warblers, but there are so many of them I find it difficult to put each in its place in my mind. And of all birds what a variety! I guess it was because God found it a difficult job to make one perfectly colored bird, so he distributed the colors all over the bird map!

Where can you discover more varieties and in such perfect combination of balanced color as in our birds? And there must have been a reason for the placing of every color. Each bird is a class to himself. Each makes his own kind of nest, and each has his own call and song and his own individual life.

Birds live out their lives in work, family raising, and in happy song. They are brave little creatures, too. They bear hardships without a whimper. They live healthy lives but if they fall ill they take an isolated stand somewhere, fall asleep and drop to the arms of Mother Nature herself.

I have been watching a robin's nest high in a birch tree just outside my summer cabin. The eggs are not yet hatched, as I well know, for mother robin sits there patiently all day long, leaving for but a short time for food, then returning to her joy as a prospective mother. How very wonderful it is!

When they are fed and not disturbed, birds are very friendly. They come within a few feet of me as I sit and watch them and put out crumbs and food. They soon learn the place where food is placed for them. Then they tell others and whole groups return day after day. It's fun to watch them in enjoyment and song. Nature has endowed them with knowledge on how to protect themselves.

These small creatures teach us a great deal about the weather, the seasons, and life itself. They are long on patience and courage, and they know nothing of the confused state of mind that people in the world experience. They sing through all sorts of weather and know nothing of wars or rumors of war! They inspire beauty and reverence in the soul.

INDIFFERENCE

When good men nothing do
And duty shirk,
Evil comes crashing through,
Said Edmund Burke.

Those not his words exact,
Now printed here,
But plain the dreadful fact;
The meaning clear.

'Tis true, as then, today,
And all should heed,
When good men idle stay,
Bad men succeed.

All who would serve the best
Must share its need,
Nor day nor night take rest
'Til right succeeds.

EAST BERLIN — Relatives here have received word from Paramount, Calif., that Mrs. William T. O'Brien, formerly Miss Dorothy M. Myers, R.N., is seriously ill in a California hospital. Although her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Myers, East Berlin R. 2, and her sister, Mrs. Carl V. Snyder, left for California to be with her, hospital attaches will not permit Mrs. O'Brien to have even close relatives as visitors, due to the gravity of her condition.

Miss Shirley A. Burgard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lavere Burgard, a 1952 graduate of the East Berlin High School, has accepted a position in York.

Fern, 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Chester F. Hull, is reported improved after spending several days under observation at Temple University Hospital, Philadelphia.

Miss F. Louise Wrights, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Wrights and a member of the 1952 class of the local high school, has accepted a position at the East Berlin Garment Co.

Improving Highway

Operations were recently begun to improve the road leading from the Harrisburg highway north of town to Eisenhart's Mill, and it is expected that this road will later be macadamized.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Silcox and two young sons, of the Philadelphia area, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy E. Eisenhart. Mrs. Eisenhart is an aunt of Mrs. Silcox, who was formerly Miss Letitia Butt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Butt, Media.

The East Berlin-York road, east of town, which was closed to traffic for more than a week because of oiling has been reopened.

Mrs. Augustine J. Tierney has received word that a cousin, Mrs. Bertha Kuhn Sappington, Tampa, Fla., who is spending the summer near Hanover, is recovering from severe bruises of her hand and back suffered in a fall Thursday. She visited in East Berlin last week.

Many At Picnic

One of the best attendances within recent years marked the 1952 Paradise picnic held recently at the Adams County Fairgrounds. This was the first time that the women of the church prepared full-course chicken dinners. In the evening, there was music by the East Berlin High School band.

Mrs. Blanche E. Mummert and Mrs. Miriam C. Wagner, accompanied by Mrs. Miriam G. Walker, New Oxford, and Miss Mary E. Eider, Abbottstown, visited Lancaster last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Mignot, who have spent much of the summer with their son, the Rev. Francis L. Mignot, acting pastor of Paradise Catholic Church, are preparing to return to Williamsport.

Miss Frances Robinson, Hanover, who has spent a part of the summer with Dr. and Mrs. Allen W. Kelly, expects to return to Hanover at the end of August. Miss Robinson will spend the next few weeks at the home of a niece, Mrs. Bernard A. Moore, New Oxford.

John Sponsler, who has been studying for the Roman Catholic priesthood at a Baltimore seminary, is spending several weeks on vacation at Paradise Protectory.

Mrs. Joseph Balek has returned home after spending several days at her former home, Shamokin, where she visited a brother. The latter suffered a fractured vertebra in a recent automobile accident. The Balek family recently acted as hosts to a group of Mr. Balek's relatives from Buffalo, N. Y.

Men of the Holy Name Society of Paradise Catholic Church will receive Holy Communion in a body Sunday morning.

Mrs. Curtis W. Deatrick, East Berlin R. 2, has been confined to her room for several days with neuritis.

York Springs

YORK SPRINGS—Mrs. Amos D. Meyers has returned to her home after spending several weeks as director of the Lewistown Girl Scouts Day Camp.

Several from York Springs attended the annual reunion of the Masemore (Masemer) family at the South Mountain Fairgrounds Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Coulson and son, Billy, have returned after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gabbard, Connersville, Ind., where the Gabbards recently announced the birth of a daughter. Mrs. Gabbard, a sister of Mrs. Coulson, was formerly Miss Martha Mansberger.

Twin sons were born at the Hanover Hospital this week to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Congleton, Hanover, formerly of York Springs.

Churches combined in a commuity vesper service Sunday evening on the lawn of the Harvey Lerew home.

Mr. and Mrs. Peston Zerbe recently entertained the Rev. Ralph Meckley, Jersey Shore, formerly pastor of the local Lutheran church, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall and son, Rodney, Prince Frederick, Md., spent several days at the home of Mrs. Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Smith, near here.

DULLES SAYS IKE ALONE CAN KEER U. S. FROM WAR

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

DENVER (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower believes, says John Foster Dulles, that President Truman's foreign policy is placing America in the greatest peril in its history.

And Dulles, Republican international affairs expert who until recently was an adviser to Secretary of State Acheson, says only election of Eisenhower as president can block Soviet domination of the free world and avert a third world war.

Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Eisenhower's Democratic opponent for the presidency, "lacks the experence, the stature and the power of decision in great world matters which are so necesssry to save our nation at this time," Dulles told a news conference yesterday.

Talks After Conference

Dulles, chief author of the foreign policy plank of the GOP platform, spoke out after a two-hour conference with Eisenhower and his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California.

"I think we all agree," said Dulles, "that the trend of our present foreign policies is to put our nation in the greatest peril it has ever been in the entire course of our national history."

Then he went on to blast those policies and to say:

"I would not be here expressing the views I have if they were not in accord with Gen. Eisenhower's views."

Is Major Issue

Eisenhower, Nixon and he agree, Dulles said, that foreign policy is the major issue of the campaign—a view Stevenson expressed last week.

Virtually all credit for improvement of morale in Western Europe belongs to Eisenhower — who was North Atlantic commander until last June 1 — and not to the administration, Dulles declared.

"At the end of World War II," he said, "Russia was a relatively weak and terribly devastated country. The United States had unprecedented power and prestige in the world.

Danger Of War

"Since then the balance of power has been steadily moving against us. One-third of all the people of the world are already under Soviet dictatorship as a hostile force against us. The remainder of the world, which we call the free world, is held together very precariously.

"The Russian leaders have been picking off the free world piece by piece and if this process goes on, there will be a balance of power against us so great that I do not think that general war can be avoided because the Communist leaders will then have a good hope of victory.

"I am absolutely convinced that Gen. Eisenhower, by reason of his experience, stature and prestige throughout the world — and policies I feel confident he will pursue — will check that trend. I believe he alone can check that trend."

Lacks Experience

Dulles then said he has a high personal regard for Stevenson, but feels the Democratic nominee isn't qualified for the White House.

A reporter noted that Dulles said Stevenson lacks the power of decision. It perhaps would have been better, Dulles said, to have put it this way:

"No one, without past experience in making grave decisions, can all of a sudden be qualified to make the type of grave decisions that are going to be required while we are in the twilight zone between war and peace."

IKE MAY OPEN IN QUAKER CITY

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin reported Friday that Dwight D. Eisenhower may open his campaign for the presidency in this city.

The Bulletin's political correspondent Carl W. McCardle, in a dispatch from Denver, the present Eisenhower headquarters, said the Republican nominee's top managers are conferring on the matter, but that no definite decision has been reached.

McCardle said that if Eisenhower makes his first out-and-out political speech of the campaign in Philadelphia, it probably would be under auspices of the Young Republicans Organization.

It was thought likely that such a Philadelphia speech would be delivered toward the end of this month or in the early part of September.

Eisenhower is scheduled to make a non-political speech before the American Legion in New York on Aug. 25.

Find Substitute For Newsprint

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Newspaper executives today felt their way at the government's request through a test of a proposed substitute material for newsprint.

They pinched, felt, tore and rubbed leaflets made of bagasse, or sugar cane fiber, as well as leaflets made of the ordinary woodpulp newsprint on which their newspapers are printed.

Bagasse has been proposed as a paper which might be acceptable in cost and quality as the basis for developing United States newsprint production.

The quest for a substitute has been stimulated by rising newsprint costs in Canada, source of 75 per cent of this country's supply.

Retail Food Prices Show Slight Drop

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lower prices for fresh fruits and vegetables more than offset a slight rise in the cost of other foods, causing the government's index of retail food prices to drop six-tenths of one per cent during the two weeks ended July 28.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics announced yesterday its index now stands at 233.7 per cent of the 1935-39 average, a slight decline from the all-time peak two weeks earlier.

Carnival Worker Is Loser In "Contest"

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—A carnival worker was fatally injured last night in what was described as a "contest" to see who could stay longest on the tracks as a train approached.

Coroner Robert Barrett said he was told the man was knocked more than 100 feet by a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train.

The victim was identified as Virgil E. Burkhart, 25, who was said to have joined the show last month at Washington, Pa.

A Bit Of History About Your Own Adams County

This is the 22nd in a series of historical talks given over Radio Station WGET by Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, Adeline Sager professor of history at Gettysburg College, on some of the outstanding events, and interesting episodes in the development of Adams County.

Among the subjects of historical interest which can profitably be talked about in this series is the development of the local units of government in the county — the townships and the boroughs. This article will be devoted to the borough of East Berlin, which was incorporated on November 10, 1879.

East Berlin is situated in the extreme eastern part of the county, and in the extreme northeastern part of Hamilton Twp., at the junction of the Conewago and Beaver Creeks, and barely more than a quarter of a mile from the York County line.

Hamilton Twp. was formed out of Berwick Twp. in 1810. Berwick Twp. is one of the oldest townships in the county, having been a township when Lancaster County had jurisdiction over what is now Adams County until 1749, when York County was formed, including also the present Adams County.

Township Is Reduced

When Adams County was cut off from York in 1800 Berwick was included in the new county, but was then much larger than it is today for it extended also over the area of Hamilton and Oxford Twps. It was reduced in 1810 when Hamilton Twp. was formed, and again in 1847 when Oxford Twp. was established.

The land on which East Berlin stands was purchased in 1764 by John Frankenberger from the proprietors of Pennsylvania, the Penns, for 28 pounds, 16 shillings, seven pence. Charles Himes erected the first house on the land in 1765 and Jacob Sarbaugh erected the second house in 1766.

On May 8, 1764 the village was surveyed into 85 lots, which sold for 55 shillings each. A condition of the sale of each lot provided that the buyer would, within six months, erect a houase with brick or stone chimney, and pay annually a Spanish dollar to the owner of the town, John Frankenberger.

In 1774 the town was sold to Peter Househill for 550 pounds. In March, 1782, Andrew Comfort purchased Househill's interest, and in his will, dated November 19, 1789, made it optional with his son, Andrew, to purchase the property at a fair valuation.

In January, 1794 this younger Andrew was granted a deed and on January 16, 1795 he sold the town to John Hildebrand. Hildebrand made an addition of 100 lots that same year and progress seemed to have marked his ownership, for in 1797 there were 100 houses in the village. The American Gazetteer for that year says: "Berlin is a neat and flourishing town of York County, Penna., containing 100 houses. It is regularly laid out on the southwestern side of Conewago Creek, 13 miles westerly of Yorktown and 101 west of Philadelphia in north latitude 39 degrees, 56 minutes."

Word "East" Is Added

We therefore see that by 1797 the name which Frankenberger gave his town, in honor of his home city, Berlin, Germany, was well-established. In later years the word "East" was added when the town secured a post office, to distinguish it from the Berlin, in Somerset County, which was probably not as old but which presumably had a post office at an earlier date.

East Berlin developed through the first three-quarters of the 19th century as a country town, with the usual features of such towns. In 1879, against the wishes of the people of the town, the polling place was moved westward about three miles to Pine Run. To protect their interest and to save future dispute, the residents of the town petitioned for a borough organization. This was completed on November 10, 1879. The town had about 500 inhabitants at that time.

The first officers were elected in 1880 as follows: Burgess, George King; councilmen, J. Hartley, J. Resser, M. Rebert, George W. Baughman, Henry Sheafer and John Wiest. As a borough it has continued to grow and to prosper.

Of German Extraction

The people who settled in this general area were almost all of German extraction, with some Swiss included, and consequently the religious tone of the town has been strongly affected by the churches founded by the Germans. An effort to establish a Presbyterian Church did not succeed in the very beginning of the 19th century, and a later effort to maintain a Methodist Church likewise failed.

A union Lutheran and Reformed Church was begun in 1811, and completed ten years later. Probably dislocation of ordinary life by reason of the War of 1812 was responsible for this delay. However, the Rev. Carl Helfenstine, Reformed, and the Rev. Mr. Speck, Lutheran, led the people to the completion of the task. These two churches remain as the strongest religious bodies within the town.

But Germans were also active in promotion of religious life through the Church of the Brethren. The Big Conewago congregation was begun east of East Berlin's future site in 1741. In 1849 this was divided into two congregations and one of these, Upper Conewago Congregation, built a meeting house near East Berlin. In 1852 Mummert's Meeting House was erected. Both of these serve the people of that faith not only in East Berlin but also throughout a wide area of the surrounding country.

Open School In 1769

There were also a few German Catholics who found consolation at the Paradise Church, an old station of the Jesuits, where a stone church was built in 1843.

The first school in East Berlin was opened in 1769 by an Englishman, Robert Chester. Under his direction the school naturally taught in English rather than in German as might be expected in a community where so many of the people were Germans.

More than 100 years later, in 1878, the East Berlin High and Primary School occupied its new building for the first time. At the opening 122 pupils reported to Principal John Curtis Hildebrand and Miss Ida Hartley, who was the primary teacher. Miss Bettie Tierney, writing in the Sesquicentennial issue of The Gettysburg Times says of the former teacher:

Favored Three Rs

"Master John Hildebrand had the reputation of being one of the wisest and best informed men that ever lived in the town. He taught his pupils, it is said, with an eye to each youngster's personal ability, never as one of the herd, to be crammed with 'curricular' knowledge. Consequently any boy who had a desire for knowledge could count on 'Master John' to help him get his lessons as fast as he could learn, assisting him out of school hours, so that he would not need to wait for less brilliant classmates.

"But before 'fancy knowledge,' this educator insisted upon a thorough mastery of the 'Three Rs' and even today we can notice the well-formed style of the handwriting of certain older men who never traveled beyond the boundaries of the state and who have no patience with so-called 'higher education.' These were taught by 'Master John' to write a beautiful hand. Miss Hartley, the primary teacher, later became Mrs. William Grogg."

Mrs. Grogg passed away in 1943, so that the connection between this old school and the present was preserved all those years.

A railroad into East Berlin was proposed as early as 1835, but it was not until 1877 that the railroad from Red Hill, near New Oxford, to East Berlin by way of Abbottstown, was begun. This was completed into East Berlin, in 1879, and connected with the Western Maryland Railroad's Gettysburg branch at Red Run.

Subscribed $27,000

The citizens of East Berlin subscribed $27,000 toward this project, and were satisfied with the return it brought them. For many years passenger service was maintained, in addition to the more profitable and necessary freight service. More than a generation ago the passenger service was discontinued, and about ten years ago the railroad was dissolved as a corporation, and the property disposed of. In its day it meant much to an otherwise isolated community.

Possibly the most exciting time ever experienced in East Berlin took place when Early's Division, returning from Wrightsville, to rejoin Lee's main force, passed through the town on June 30, 1863. Miss Tierney tells the story thus:

"The placid people were stirred, annoyed, when the foodstuffs in their bulging cellars were rudely appropriated by hungry soldiers, but we can understand how the soldiers must have felt, for East Berlin larders are one thing that time hasn't changed. It became more serious, however, when a good store of building materials at the entrance of Wiest's woods were destroyed by fire during those anxious days.

"A confederate soldier riding through was shot from his horse and killed, from the window of a tavern at the west end, the building now standing as a two-family dwelling owned by John H. Myers. But that was all, and the soldiers moved out, to be heard from again when the far-off thunder of 300 guns at Gettysburg came to our town, announcing the turn of the tide."

So East Berlin returned to peaceful ways which is the normal course for the many delightful small towns of which there are so many in this favored land, and in which the true spirit of American idealism still lives.

British Preparing For Atomic Tests

LONDON (AP) — Britain Friday warned world shipping and aircraft to keep out of about 30,000 square miles of ocean off Northwest Australia because this nation is about ready to set off her first atomic weapon there.

The Admiralty said the huge island-sprinkled area of the Indian Ocean now is dangerous and will remain so until further notice, owing to "the test of atomic weapons."

Prime Minister Winston Churchill disclosed last winter that Britain had produced an atomic weapon and set up arrangements for its large-scale production. He said he had ordered tests to be carried out on the uninhabited, almost waterless Monte Bello Islands, about 50 miles off Australia's northwest coast.

William Henry Harrison died at the end of his first month as president, serving the shortest term on record.

The cynic says styling in automobiles is a brand of ugliness so intolerable we have to revise it every year.

Mind Over Motor

One reason mechanics are not always so eager to delve into the car when you report that you are hearing a lot of strange noises is merely because they so often suspect that the trouble is with you rather than with the car. If you doubt this just stop off for a good meal the next time you are out driving and see how much better the car runs for the next hour. Emotionally upset drivers hear car noises that completely escape the notice of those whose minds are at ease.

One of my readers has just written me a note that seems to bear out this theory. His car is a normally quiet one, yet while driving his mother to the hospital the whole mechanism seemed very noisy. The next day brought news that his mother was much improved. Over the same route, and without having given the car any service meantime, everything was normally quiet again.

Something To Avoid

Just because there is a tendency to "baby" an engine just overhauled with new rings many a motorist makes the bad mistake of driving so slowly that he accelerates the car in high gear from low speeds. Usually the engine runs very well at low speeds after such servicing thus further tempting the driver to make this operating mistake. Such acceleration is known as "lugging." Main objection is that the engine isn't running fast enough to throw enough oil to the cylinder walls. Thus the rings may starve.

Still Lifting That Hood

When you consider the high mortality rate of magazines it is significant to note that American Motorist, official publication of the American Automobile Association, has been in continuous operation since 1909 when the organization had a mere 9,000 members as compared with its current three and one-half million. My earliest article appeared in American Motorist in 1920 and I have been a regular contributor ever since. Oddly enough I came into it by the front as well as the back door. At the time I crashed this new market for my motor articles I was producing a large volume of copy for Motor Life. Later Motor Life folded as a national magazine and was taken over by a Chicago group to be offered as a syndicated insert for AAA clubs which had their own magazine. My "Lifting the Hood" column started in this project and was taken over by American Motorist when the latter absorbed what remained of the syndicated project.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"Many of the rules for getting a better start in cold weather are an actual handicap when the mercury is playing around in the high brackets. A good example is pumping on the accelerator. Usually this is a short cut to trouble because it loads up the carburetor and intake manifold with raw gasoline. The exception is when the carburetor is in poor shape, or if the choke doesn't do a good job.

"If the engine is warmed up and a re-start is needed the throttle should be opened wide, but go down slowly on the accelerator pedal so as to avoid bringing the acceleration pump into action. Also be ready to close the throttle to the idling position as soon as the engine fires, otherwise the started pinion may be damaged."

Pinging Is Expensive

It is not generally realized that in some engines you can hear pinging more plainly than in others. Usually the valve-in-head engines cover up the noise to better advantage because all the valve gear atop the head serves as a form of insulation. This would be a decided advantage were it not for the fact that pinging should not be tolerated even if it isn't a strain on the hearing. Pinging indicates that there is uncontrolled combustion of gas vapors in the cylinders. This results in a shock on the pistons rather than the steady push needed for smooth performance. Preignition is particularly harmful because if the mixture starts firing before the proper time the pistons will be slowed down in their upward travel. They'll be trying to go two ways at once. All this shock is also transmitted to the bearings.

Toward Safer Passing

It is heartening to note that several of the latest models have transmissions which permit rapid acceleration in that speed range where it is so important to get results from the motor when overtaking another car. By kicking down on the accelerator beyond a resistance point a shift into a lower gear is obtainable at speeds around 25 miles per hour. Here the acceleration is sharp. It is intended to help avoid miscalculations when about to pass. The acceleration is so great in one car that it will even compensate for any simultaneous acceleration of the car being overtaken.

Multiplies The Risk

Speaking of passing other cars I am reminded that some safety students believe that your chances of an accident are multiplied by 50 every time you pull out of line. Much of this is due to the high speed at which other drivers may be running in the passing lane and the possibility that your rear view mirror may not reveal them.

This just points up the fact that some of the less obvious hazards are the least appreciated. You'd naturally assume that passing another car on a curve is about tops in risk. However, I am told that the chances of having an accident under such conditions are multiplied by 21 which is quite a drop from 50.

Matter Of Binding

I don't blame H. L. N. for being puzzled by the occasional fast idling of the engine of his car, especially when he knows that it is not equipped with a fast idle control on the carburetor. His mechanic has relieved his mind by pointing out that the trouble was due to binding of the throttle control rod. Sometimes a little dirt will do this, and once in awhile paint will be the cause. Remedy is to clean the binding parts carefully. They should, however, not be oiled as this will collect dirt and result in a return engagement.

Speaking Of Taxes

When you are mingling with other motorists at the better class roadside restaurants where gouging is an experience it is natural to assume that all patrons are well-heeled financially or are merely syphoning off a little of the fruits of their hard labors, but in these days of social "security" you can't be too sure. Recently, the widow of a doctor who passed on while in public service was driven out to the countryside in the car of a relative who recently retired as a state employe. Enroute they picked up a woman who lives on relief. Their combined income is largely derived from taxes paid into the coffers of the state where they live. An what, just as a matter of interest, do you think they ordered for dinner? The $2.50 special? Roast beef? Your eye apparently is trained to search for the more economical dishes. Here it is way down at the bottom. Yes sir, steak!

What's Your Trouble?

Q. Can engine oil pressure be cut down? I have been told that the engine of my car is using too much oil because the pressure is too high. N. B. F.

A. The pressure regulator on your car is adjustable. On some engines the changes are made by using springs of lower tension. However, I do not believe that the high oil consumption on your job is due to high pressure. From the rest of your letter I suspect worn rings.

Q. What is the best remedy for weak coil springs on cars? H.N.

A. If you do not replace them you can install spacers to compensate for sag. However, there also are auxiliary springs to take care of loss of resiliency as well as sag.

Q. Looking over the rear springs of my car recently I was surprised to find that something seems to be working out from between the leaves. This is not grease, although it appears to be. The car is a used job I picked up last year. Perhaps the springs originally had covers. T. McH.

A. You are observing disintegration of the liners which were used between the leaves to provide freedom from squeaks and better spring action. These springs did not have covers. If the car justifies it you can have the springs reset and equipped with new interliners.

Q. The motor heat gauge on my car suddenly went dead. What will it cost me for a new unit? B. W. Jr.

A. The chances are that the wire connecting the plug in the rear cylinder head with the gauge on the dash is broken. Usually this breaks right near the plug because of the engine shaking in its flexible mountings.

Q. I can't seem to get the windshield clean, there being a scum which shows up when deadlights of other cars play upon the glass at night. T. H. K.

A. This may be some greasy deposit from rags used for wiping bugs off the glass during your travels. Why don't you use one of the glass cleaners of the mildly abrasive type — the kind used for home windows?

Q. I can't seem to get a quiet adjustment of the tappets. The work is easy enough on my particular engine but always one or two of the tappets have too much clearance after I finish. J. J. L.

A. Evidently you fail to run the engine several times while doing the job. The engine cools and you therefore do not tackl the tappets at uniform temperature.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern St. West Harford, 7, Connecticut, and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

NMB SEEKS TO AVERT STRIKE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Mediation Board Friday set up a conference aimed at heading off a threatened strike, which could affect 20,000 workers, against the New York Central Railroad.

If called, the strike would start at noon Monday, a union spokesman said in Cleveland.

Three railroad unions yesterday authorized their New York representatives to call a walkout, if necessary, against the carrier's lines east of Buffalo. The issues are grievances and working conditions dating back two years.

When notified, the board last night asked the unions to postpone any strike action pending the outcome of federal mediation efforts. A board spokesman said a company-union-board conference could begin today in New York and might continue as long as two weeks.

There was no immediate reply from the unions. The New York Central agreed to meet with the board and promised full cooperation.

The strike plan was announced in Cleveland Thursday by a spokesman for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. It followed by a day a breakdown in union-company negotiations. No date was set for resumption of these talks.

The spokesman said the strike authorization was signed by James P. Shields, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; David B. Robertson, president of the Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and Roy O. Hughes, president of the Order of Railway Conductors.

$100,000 Fire Sweeps Erie Ervite Plant

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Fire swept the Ervite Corp. plant Friday, causing an estimated $100,000 damage.

One fireman and an employe were slightly injured. The fire broke out shortly before 5 a. m. (EST).

Fireman fought the blaze for four hours before it was brought under control. Origin of the blaze was not immediately determined.

Rush Dale, vice president of the firm, said the blaze damaged half of the structure. The plant, employing 40 persons, manufactures porcelain enamel.

10 Americans Die In Bomber Crash

TOKYO (AP)—U. S. Navy headquarters said 10 crewmen were killed in the crash of a Navy patrol bomber Friday on the Southern Japanese island of Shikoku.

A helicopter was flown to the site, on the coast three miles south of Nagahama, to remove the bodies.

Names of the dead were withheld.

The bomber was on a flight from Iwakuki Air Base near Hirpshima.

ORDER GREEK TO KEEP BULGAR MEN OFF GAMMA

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Acting Premier Sophocles Venizelos told a packed press conference Friday that Greek forces had been ordered to keep Bulgarian troops off the border Evros Island of Gamma, from which the Communist Bulgars were driven by Greek fire Thursday.

Venizelos said Greek troops at the river border between Greece and her Soviet satellite neighbor on the northwest had been ordered to stand by on the alert until the United Nations back Greek demands for unquestioned sovereignty over the tiny island.

(A dispatch from Istanbul, Turkey, said reports from the Turkish border 10 miles from Gamma indicated no new activity in the area and that Turkish authorities appeared unexcited over the latest Greek-Bulgar flareup.

U. N. Not Alarmed

(At the United Nations headquarters in New York Thursday, the Greek firing on a Bulgarian patrol on the island generally was considered just another one of the border incidents which have been a common feature of Greek-Bulgar relations in recent years.)

The Greeks earlier had reported a Bulgarian patrol—probably of 10 or 12 men—on the island and ordered them off by Wednesday morning. Thursday the Greeks said the Bulgars were still on the island and fired on them for several hours with mortars and machineguns. The Greeks said the Communists withdrew after the firing.

Responsible quarters here in the Greek capital regarded the situation as crucial and speculated as to the results if the Greeks landed on Gamma. These sources wondered whether the Bulgars had mined the island and whether they had gun positions on the Bulgarian side of the river to fire on any Greek landing.

Both Nations Ready

A Greek general staff announcement Thursday said, however, that no Greek troops had been sent to the island since the only objective was to get the Bulgarians out.

(In New York, the United Nations received a report from its Balkans commission observers on the scene that both countries had large forces ready for action and that the situation was "very dangerous." The observers urged Greece to ask for U. N. intervention but Greece's delegate at the U. N. already had said his country was not contemplating such a request.)

There was no comment from the American Embassy in Athens on the situation but sources close to the embassy said U. S. officials were following the developments "extremely closely."

The United Nations sub-committee here was reported preparing a report to U. N. headquarters supporting the Greek claim of sovereignty over Gamma. Earlier the U. N. group had condemned the Bulgars for an "unwonted attack" July 27 on the island in which three Greek soldiers were killed.

Reds Move To Stop Escapes

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Red Czechoslovakia is shipping middle class groups out of her key cities by the trainload and has now begun clearing political suspects out of villages along the Austrian border, usually reliable sources said Friday.

Informants said the Red regime has been shipping hundreds of such suspects from towns in a Czech "security zone" which skirts the Czech-Austrian frontier. A similar zone exists along the Czech frontier with West Germany.

One effect of the move is to cut down the number of anti-Communists escaping to the West. Counter measures along the frontier already have cut the number of such escapes in half over the past year. Lately only about 50 persons a month have been slipping across the line.

Thousands of families were reported being driven from their homes in Prague, Bratislavia and other cities. The move is similar to that being carried on in Czechoslovakia's fellow satellites, Hungary and Romania.

LAUDS DUTCH HERITAGE

READING, Pa. (AP)—Donald A. Shelley, curator of fine arts of the Ford Foundation Museum at Dearborn Michigan, told participants in the first annual seminar on the folk culture of Pennsylvania that residents in the "Dutch" sections of the state should become more conscious of their area's distinctive heritage.

Speaking at a session at Bynden Wood, near Reading, Thursday, Shelley said the heritage was Pennsylvania's main cultural contribution to the nation.

27 COUNTRIES FAVOR PAYING W. GERMAN DEBTS

LONDON (AP)—An agreement to pay off the huge prewar private German debts and end West Germany's status as a bankrupt nation was approved here Friday by a 27-nation conference.

The agreement now goes to a United States-British-French government commission on German debts. The commission, in consultation with the governments of other creditor nations, will draft an intergovernmental agreement putting the debt pay-off system into effect.

West Germany will pay off nearly all of Germany's private prewar debts, estimated at 2½ to three billion dollars.

However, interest rates generally will be reduced and the maturity dates of the debts will be extended up to as much as 30 years to ease the strain on West Germany.

To Reduce Loans

Separately, the United States, Britain and France are now expected to agree on a scaling down of their multi-billion dollar postwar government relief loans to West Germany.

Herman J. Abs, head of the West German delegation, accepted the debt settlement plan on behalf of West Germany, but warned the plan would be "jeopardized" by any further war preparation demands by Germany's former enemies.

Abs said his delegation would move as swiftly as possible to obtain approval of the plan by the West German Parliament.

U. S., British and French government delegates said any future action on reparation claims would take into account West Germany's agreement to pay off the private debts.

Offered "Breathing Spell"

But the Western delegates added that they could not now offer West Germany any assurances that might prejudice later decisions by their governments on reparations.

The United States offered West Germany a five-year breathing spell in paying off her foreign aid debts to the American government.

Under this concession, announced by U. S. Chief Delegate John W. Gunter, the U. S. government would accept repayment of $1,200,000,000 from West Germany beginning in 1957 and continuing in annual payments for 30 years.

Originally, West Germany was to start repaying oreign aid debts to the Western Big Three as soon as the debt settlement plan was approved by the governments concerned.

Scale Foreign Aid

The United States already has offered to scale down the settlement of its original foreign aid loans to West Germany from $3,200,000,000 to $1,200,000,000.

Britain and France agreed to smaller-scale cuts in repayment of their postwar aid. The British government's aid totaled $562,800,000 and the French government's $15,700,000.

The five-year breathing spell offer by the United States would take effect on approval of the general debt settlement plan by the U. S. government, in consultation with Congress.

Britain and France have not made a similar offer to delay repayment.

The United States has asked for interest of 2½ per cent on its government loans to West Germany. Britain and France have not asked interest.

ATTY. GENERAL ACTS TO FERRET OUT CORRUPTION

By JACK ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Flanked by an array of new top assistants, Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery moved forward on a number of fronts today in his battle to clean up any corruption in the federal government.

McGranery assembled a news conference to disclose a number of shifts in his chief assistants and to announce that:

1. His department is investigating alleged job sales in the Chicago Postoffice — second largest in the country — reputedly at $500 per throw. McGranery said "it is only a question of who and how many we are going to indict."

2. He has ordered a grand jury investigation into the 1946 public auction of the government's 19½ million dollar St. John's River shipyard at Jacksonville, Fla., sold as surplus to the Tampa Shipbuilding Company for $1,928,500.

The attorney general called his news conference immediately after President Truman announced three new major appointments in the Justice Department, on McGranery's recommendations. They are:

Ross L. Malone, 42, Roswell, N. M., attorney never before associated with government, as deputy attorney general, No. 2 post in the department. He succeeds A. Devitt Vanech, who resigned last week to seek a U. S. Senate seat in Connecticut, his home state.

Rowland F. Kirks, 37, former dean of the National University school of law here, as assistant attorney general for alien property, succeeding Harold I. Baynton, whose resignation was accepted in June.

Charles B. Murray, 52, assistant district attorney for the District of Columbia for 25 years, as assistant attorney general for the criminal division.

MORE JUSTICE MEN TO QUIT

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new round of top-level resignations in the Justice Department was reported in prospect today, and the axe is expected to fall too on some U. S. district attorneys outside Washington.

At the same time, a relatively unknown attorney—Ross L. Malone of Roswell, N. M.—was slated to take over the department's No. 2 spot succeeding A. Devitt Vanech as deputy attorney general.

Vanech resigned Monday to seek the Democratic nomination for the unexpired term of the late Sen. Brien McMahon of Connecituct.

Impending new changes in the department now headed by Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery were forecast by informed sources as amounting to a virtual clean sweep of officials left over from the regime of Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath, and before him, Tom Clark.

The departure of Vanech left the eighth major vacancy in the department's top echelon—starting last April 4 with the firing of McGrath at the height of President Truman's government "house cleaning" campaign. McGrath stepped down after he had first fired Newbold Morris, his special "house cleaner."

The Communist Party of America was formed in September, 1919, in Chicago and had a program for the conquest of political power, the overthrow of capitalism and the destruction of the bourgeois state.

Almost 86 per sent of Alabama's 1949 output of 15 million tons of bituminous coal came from underground mines.

Malik Postpones Vacation Again

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Russia's Jacob A. Malik has for the second time postponed his scheduled vacation in the Soviet Union. This led delegates to speculate again today whether something big was brewing—possibly in the Korean truce talks.

The Holland-American line confirmed that Russia's delegate to the U. N. had cancelled passage booked on the liner Nieuw Amsterdam for Aug. 12. Earlier he had cancelled a booking for July 22.

Other delegates have been watching the Korea developments closely, but so far have seen nothing to indicate any imminent break.

With the 1952 General Assembly scheduled to open Oct. 14, Malik may now find the time is too short to go to Russia this summer. Because of a heart ailment, he does not like to fly.

Reds Did Not Down Plane This Week

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The Air Force today triumphantly announced it didn't lose a single plane in aerial combat this week while Allied jets blasted 18 Communist MIG-15s out of the skies and damaged 19 others.

Four U. S. Air Force planes were lost to Red ground fire and four to unknown causes in action over North Korea this week the Air Force said.

The announcement made the past five days perhaps the most victorious of the war—considering the fact that the win-lose ratio of Sabre jets has usually been eight to one over the streaking MIGs.

MANILA (AP) — Unconfirmed reports reaching here today told of unidentified submarines being sighted in Philippine territorial waters in the Southern Philippines.

Similar reports have been made from time to time. However, none have been officially confirmed by headquarters officials here.
